

Matthew Redinger, Ph.D.

Provost and

Vice President for Academic Affairs

.....

Dr. Matthew Redinger was appointed Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at Chatham University in 2025. He joined Chatham in 2024 and has quickly become a valuable and vital community member. Before joining Chatham, he served six years as Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs at the University of Providence in Great Falls, Montana, where he led multiple initiatives in program development, accreditation and assessment, and student success. He has spent most of his career as a Professor of History, specializing in Modern United States history, Modern Latin America, and the Middle East in the 20th century. As an academic leader, the work he most values is that which fulfills the mission of the university, optimizes opportunities for students to thrive, grow, and succeed, and builds a healthier and more sustainable world. When he's not exercising his administrative leadership chops, he can be found enjoying the great outdoors with good friends biking, golfing, fishing, hiking, and playing pickleball.